

NQT Conference: Making a difference in the classroom

CPD Training Courses
from the Geographical Association

London Tuesday 12 June 2012

Leeds Monday 18 June 2012

Target audience

Secondary geography NQTs

Overview

This course will bring NQTs together to discuss the successes of the year so far. It will suggest a number of strategies for developing the geography curriculum in your school and extending your own pedagogical practice.

Some use of new web-based and mobile technologies will be suggested, and the day will also involve some fieldwork activities.

Delegates will leave with a pack of useful materials and some 'homework', and ongoing support will be provided via a blog.

Aims and outcomes

- To update knowledge of latest resources and thinking in secondary geography.
- To raise awareness of GA project materials for use in teaching and professional development.
- To practice using a range of web tools to add a new dimension to student learning.
- To meet with other NQT colleagues and develop points of contact for ongoing support.
- To produce a personal 'action plan' including important steps to take and professional development targets in the early years of your career.

Presenter

Alan Parkinson, Secondary Curriculum Development Leader, Geographical Association 2008–11 and freelance author and curriculum consultant
