Teacher-to-Teacher Sessions

Colour Key:

 Teacher-to-Teacher

FRIDAY 9 APRIL

 12.30-12.50 - Unsettling settlement
Teacher-to-Teacher - KS3-P16

Richard Bustin, Geography Teacher, Bancroft's School, Woodford Green

This session looks afresh at the way we can teach and learn about 'urban settlement', based on concepts from recent geographical thinking developed in universities. It uses the pupils' own experiences of urban living as a starting point to develop thoughts around 'Thirdspace'. Linked to research paper.

 12.55-13.15 - Innovative use of art in geography
Teacher-to-Teacher - KS3-P16

Bob Lang, Geography Teacher, King Edward VI Five Ways School, Birmingham

This session will discuss how art and photography have been used to look at the growth, urbanisation and redevelopment of Guangzhou and Beijing. It will show how students' ideas have been used and give you the opportunity to try some of the methods.

 13.20-13.40 – Developing Social Cohesion in Schools
Teacher-to-Teacher - KS3-KS4

Andrew Watkins, Head of Humanities, Holton High School, Runcorn

This session will focus on the need for social cohesion in the curriculum and will show subject leaders how social cohesion can be implemented.

SATURDAY 10 APRIL

 12.30-12.50 - Working with Rose
Teacher-to-Teacher - KS1-2

Lucy Broadwood and Richard Outhwaite, PGCE Students, Bishop Grosseteste University College, Lincoln

This session will get you thinking and discussing the new changes proposed by the Rose Review. We will look at how we can get geography in the 'bigger picture' in our primary schools through careful and meaningful planning.

 13.10-13.30 - Using mobile devices to help cross-curricular learning
Teacher-to-Teacher - KS1-2

Stephen Ruddick, Student Teacher, Roehampton University

This session will explore how mobile devices can be used to make learning fun, interactive and cross-curricular, both inside and out of the classroom. With little training, pupils and teachers alike can create their own information that can be manipulated and used throughout the curriculum and school.

 13.50-14.10 - Geography: A view from the south
Teacher-to-Teacher - KS3-4

Dr Kevin Cook, Chair, GA International Working Group

This session will provide the opportunity for two international visitors, anticipated to be from Malawi and Tanzania, to tell participants about geography in their schools. This will enable international visitors to establish contacts with UK geography teachers. Presented by GA IWG
