Could you be a Champion for Primary Geography?

Are you:

- Passionate about geography as a subject and about the teaching and learning of quality primary geography?
- Enthusiastic about leading and developing existing or new networks of primary teachers?
- Familiar with the aims of the Action Plan for Geography and the values of the Geographical Association?

We need another 12 Geography Champions across England to help us promote primary geography and support primary teachers. Would you like three, paid days in 2010 – 2011 to support a network of teachers in your area?*

Other benefits include:

- Freedom to identify your local agenda and needs
- A free start up pack of geography resource materials
- Free entry to the GA annual Conference
- £180 per day
- Free CPD and opportunities for accreditation
- Access to a dedicated networking website
- Additional funding for special events

If you are working in the field of primary geography, perhaps as a teacher, lecturer or advisor and would like to know more, please contact Paula Owens p.owens@geography.org.uk

Download an application form and further information here. The deadline for applicants in July 8th and applicants will be informed by the end of July.

Please note: you must be a member of the GA to be a Geography Champion, although the networks are open to all.

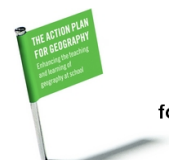

Further information is available at:
