

Regeneration is the process by which cities, towns or neighbourhoods improve themselves.

Geography

Objective To analyse evidence and draw conclusions

- Activity:
- Look at selection of surveys that children have brought back from home.
 - Give time to collate results. How are they going to record results? Ask for ideas. (Graphs, tally charts etc.)
 - Can they work out what people think the good things are about Castleford? What more do people wish the area could offer?

Objective: To explain a view that they hold about a topical issue

- Activity: Discussion on bridge to be built across the river.
- What do they think about it? What are the advantages and disadvantages?
 - In twos or threes prepare a short speech to let others know their views (they don't all have to have same views).
 - Some groups share with class.
 - Thinking time about what they would like to see provided in Castleford. Write down ideas.
 - Work in twos and threes again. Need to then think about how they could present their ideas to others.

Design and Technology

- Objectives:
- To generate an idea for an addition to Castleford
 - To develop and explain their ideas clearly
 - To make and improve a design
 - To comment on other children's designs

Activities: Working in twos or threes, write notes down about how they are going to design their addition to Castleford.

- How can they communicate their ideas to others?
- Write down what would need to be included in their designs.

Explain their ideas fully to another group at some point in the afternoon.

Work on producing their designs so that others will be able to see what they look like.

Evaluate their design

- Do they think their design communicates well what they were trying to achieve?
- How could it be improved if it was made again?
