

Where in the world? Research activity sheet

What to do:

- In an atlas, find a map of the world that shows different climate zones (arctic, tropical rainforest, dry desert, tropical monsoon).
- Select a climate zone that you are interested in/don't know much about.
- Locate a country within that climate zone as a focus for your research.
- Do you already know any geographical information about it?
- Use books, the internet and other sources to find out more about your chosen country then record the information on the spider diagram.
- In the empty boxes, add your own questions and answers.

Does the weather have any effect on any of these?

How can people look after/spoil this place?

How is this place similar/different to where you live?
